Live the life of luxury at Colorado's Sebastian Vail

By Jordan Guinn

CENTRAL VALLEY NEWS-SENTINEL

Do you adore playing in the outdoors during the winter? Then the Sebastian Vail in Colorado is perfect for you. Centered in the heart of Vail Village, the Sebastian offers idyllic luxury in a serene mountain setting.

Highlights include the tapas-style restaurant Leonora, the Frost bar which features craft cocktails in an inviting space, the full-service Bloom Spa, and a mountain-view pool with four steaming hot tubs.

Base Camp is The Sebastian's year-round slopeside adventure center for ski-in, ski-out access to Vail Mountain in the winter and bike rentals and outdoor activities in the summer.

Residences at The Sebastian are a practical, flexible and convenient way to enjoy a luxurious vacation home with five-star amenities and unmatched privileges in the heart of Vail Village. These newly renovated and impeccably appointed two- and three-bedroom residences are available through the Private Residence Club, which affords all the benefits of owning a Vail vacation property free of the hassles.

COVER STORY

"My experience has been wonderful. The service is great, everyone there is committed to help no matter what their position is. They almost read your mind regarding your needs and wishes and those of your family. It really is like being at home with all the luxury and service you can think of," said Guillermo Romo, an owner at the resort.

Owning at The Sebastian means effortless days. Imagine waking up knowing that everything is taken care of.

In the winter, enjoy Base Camp with your own private ski valet, where you'll step into warm ski boots and perfectly tuned skis. Return for hot chocolate and cookies for Apres Ski in the Owners Lounge while waiting for your deep tissue massage at Bloom Spa.

In the summer, grab your bikes and gear from Base Camp and talk to our Adventure Concierge for all the best places to explore on and around the mountain. Explore shopping and events in Vail Village and return home to enjoy steaming hot tubs, and inviting pool and roaring fire pits.

For what ever season, Vail has something to offer for everyone.
